Overview of this Document

This document is designed to provide all of the guidance you need in performing your role as Program Coordinator, using AbstractCentral (also known as ScholarOne):

- Accessing The System
- Review Your Available Sessions
- Identify Divisional Meeting/Divisional Speaker Sessions
- Assign Papers To Each Session
- Give The Session A Name
- Assign Program Chairs (and Discussants)
- Edit Paper Title/Paper Abstract

Accessing the System

When you login to AbstractCentral you'll see the Welcome, Submission, and Session menus (you may also see a Review menu, depending on your other roles).

Select Session, and then select Sessioning. This will take you to your work area for building your program.

1. Review your Available Sessions

Sessions are assigned by the conference organizers. You will be given sufficient sessions to accommodate:

- All of your accepted papers (at four papers per session)
- Your divisional meeting
- Any divisional speakers or events that are part of your normal divisional program.

Sessions are scheduled in order to balance the overall program of the conference (so that there are a consistent number of sessions at any one time, rather than front-loading the program for all divisions with dwindling session counts as the conference progresses).

To view your assigned sessions:

- Click on Sessions & Events

You will see a list of all available sessions and events for your division that have been assigned to you for programming.

To see the date and start time of each session, you can add those columns:

- Hover over the column name of any column in the grid.
- Click on the right-hand pull-down button, and then move your cursor to Columns
- Turn on the checkbox for Date and Start time

2. Identify Divisional Meeting/Divisional Speaker Sessions

In consultation with your Division Chair, identify which slots you would like to use for:

- Your divisional meeting
- A divisional speaker, if:
 - o You have one
 - o They are not one of the divisional keynotes and are being scheduled as part of the overall conference program.

Send an email to Marie Lachapelle at marie.lachapelle@asac.ca (cc rory.oneill@asac.ca) on which sessions you would like to be made divisional events (these are handled differently within AbstractCentral).

3. Assign Papers to Each Session

To assign papers to each session:

- Click on Session Builder in the left-hand Sessioning menu.
- A list of available sessions will appear in the left-hand side of the grid (only sessions can have abstracts assigned to them; once set up, you will not see your divisional meeting, divisional speaker or divisional event on this screen).
- A list of abstracts that have been assigned to you will appear in the right-hand side of the grid.
- Click and drag an abstract to the session you wish to assign it to.

To see the date and start time of each session, you can add those columns:
